Hi there,

I've spoken with our Notifications Manager and what we can do is create a private list that notifies folks about upcoming productions via email.

I know both of you had mentioned sharing email addresses with me so whenever we want to start building that list, we can. In the interim, of course I have you two listed as the first two folks on the list. As soon as we begin receiving addresses, we can create the private list.

Thanks folks and let me know if you have any questions and/or when we can expect to start receiving emails.

P.S., Misty, you had mentioned that your BID does hold regular meetings so let me know when a team member and I can stop by to introduce ourselves.
